

GIRLS TEACHING
GIRLS TO CODE

presents:

Brain Busters

DECEMBER 1ST, 2018 | 1:00-4:30 PM |
STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Hi there!

We will be hosting our Brain Busters puzzle hunt for 48 high school girls in the Bay Area on December 1st, 1:00PM - 4:30PM at Stanford University!

Students will work in randomly assigned teams of four to solve brain teasers, crack mysterious codes, and exercise their leadership skills. The puzzles, written by the GTGTC mentors, are all related to concepts in computer science and will help students practice the kind of critical thinking that is often used in programming and CS. To see more details about this event, visit our website: <http://girlsteachinggirlstocode.org/events/>

Please feel free to share this application amongst any friends interested in exploring computer science. Note that priority will be given to girls who have not attended Code Camp or Brain Busters in a prior year.

Applications are now open and are due Monday, November 19th at 11:59:59 PM:
<http://bit.ly/brainbusters2018>

As always, feel free to email us at girlsteachinggirlstocode@gmail.com if you have any questions or concerns.

Cheers,
The Girls Teaching Girls to Code Team